This is actually the second series in cryptocurrency puzzle books by the writer. Whomever solves the puzzle initial, and is the 1st to react with the right solution, will have access to the Stellar (XLM) Lumens cryptocurrency deposited for the reason that account. Among the keys is a deciphering technique which exists as general public knowledge. A cryptocurrency address is a unique string of various letters and numbers. However, the combination of the four books provides unique clues resulting in the additional puzzle solutions. This book is one in some four books. Each publication in Series II has a solitary cryptocurrency address. The intent of the book is usually for the reader to find the Stellar cryptocurrency address. The clues in this series are built into the puzzles. The puzzles require four main levels of deciphering. The puzzle in this reserve was created in a graphical format around that characteristic. Another clue in the puzzles will be the concentric bands around the dots, which are repeated values.
