During the last few years, Bitcoins and Cryptocurrencies have become very popular in the minds of investors and also have provoked many reactions across the economic globe. Cryptocurrencies or the technology behind Cryptocurrencies is usually a simple way for exchanging funds or a method of exchange for business purposes. It uses cryptography, to be able to create protected transactions, as well for controlling the creation of new funds. This is one of many explanations why people and traders are shifting from Intellectual Capital to Crypto Capital and in the process ---- creating a New Economic Order. The selling point of these currencies offers been great and can't be denied since some investors who bought Bitcoins over this past year, have made tons of money with them, sometimes more than 12 moments their original investment, these currencies are here to stay.
