Have you any idea how banking and money can look like in the brand new digital age? how new technology are banking the unbanked communities in the poorest parts of the world, and how suggestions and small projects can be financed by the crowds with no need to trust banks. Become familiar with how lending and borrowing can exist without banks; how new types of cash can compete to raised serve different society desires; This book collects the voices of leading scholars, entrepreneurs, policy makers and consultants who, through their expertise and keen analytical skills, are best positioned to picture from various angles the ongoing technological revolution in banking and finance. Become familiar with how, in the new digital age group, we will interact with new self-organised and autonomous businesses that operate without the human involvement, based on a set of programmed and incorruptible rules. And you will also learn that brand-new forms of dangers and threats are emerging that may destabilise our systems and jeopardise the balance of our financial purchase. Become familiar with that new business versions will emerge because of technology-enabled platforms, where you can build new forms of nonhierarchical cooperation between strangers.
