The second issue of the online open-access Interdisciplinary Journal for Religion and Transformation in Contemporary Society - J-RaT puts a focus on institutional responses to religious diversity. Contributions to the special concern cover different European contexts (Spain, France, UK, Belgium, Germany, Austria) and investigate issues of inner-confessional diversity and also institutional responses to spiritual pluralization. The articles cope with a wide range of institutions, including the hospital, the military, the prison, the Catholic Church and state institutions.
