who isn't deeply in love with school work EASILY had known what this would do for my 12 year old son, I would have eagerly paid $100 for this. My boy, who isn't in love with school work, first believed this book sounded like it would be boring. Five Stars Fun False Advertising I bought this book, thinking it was going to end up being an unfinished story We had to write an ending for. Now, we've spent the last three hours solving the codes in the "training" portion of the book. He's HOOKED! The quality of the journal wasn't the very best. He's reading, composing, and problem-solving. However the tasks are fun and helps to keep a kid entertained for some time. I anticipate ordering the rest of Keri Smith's function. and he's loving every second of it. On top of that, I am enjoying it and we're carrying it out collectively. I cannot thank the writer enough! Loved it! Bought for a 10 year old. five minutes after it arrived, he was hooked! Stuck on the Shelf Bought this for my 8yr old girl however after this 1st 10 webpages were completed I found it tossed to the side. Girl is 10 and loves this book it inspires here to create and read so it is a win win Great for Many Ages Bought this for my 12 year-old step-girl and she seemed extremely enthused about it. As I paged through the publication I noticed that it required the reader to stop and acquire a lot of additional items while working on this reserve. This seems a little bit distracting sometimes especially if the child provides settled down with a warm beverage and their comfy pjs as the publication recommends. Seems like they're constantly having to stop and collect additional items to complete each page. This seems similar to a task books vs one for writers. I would recommend. If you want to challenge your creative writing skills, don't get this book. Great Great for the individual that I gave it all. In a global where kids are obsessed with electronics - this publication is certainly a breath of fresh air. My daughter has not started working on it however because she is totally engrossed in focusing on "Wreck This Journal", however she appeared it over thoroughly when it arrived and pronounced it "perfect"! All of the adults thumbed through it and fell in love.. Finish This Book Keri Smith's "End This Book" appears like another home run. The youngsters can't wait to full it. Girl is 10 and loves this book it inspires here ... She wants to read and compose her own stories so I made a decision to investigate to see what it was concerning this reserve that triggered her to reduce interest so quickly. She loves almost anything fun like these books. She love it Five Stars My kid loved it. I purchased this reserve for my girl and she loved it! She's been through 2 Wreck this Journal books also. I initially got it because generally she enjoys school, and she loves critical thinking and logistical issues. No comment No comment Good gift for kids who enjoy doing a lot more than just sitting My child took forever to start this but once she did, she kept at it and reportsthsy she really enjoyed it. Very thin paper.He's doing "assignment work" and doesn't even know it! Probably a Cheap knock off but still nice for kids Actually fun journal for older kids and young teens. Probably a cheap knock from the real version.. This book can save electronic obsessed children Purchased this for my cousin and nieces for Xmas (ages 7 - 11). She loves just about anything fun like these books My 10 yr old daughter loves this reserve. That was until he browse the first couple of pages. A better title will be "THE TRICK Order of the Shed Forest. No plot, no characters, nothing. After all, if you want to sell a book predicated on that premise, good. But at least title it what it really is. When I got it and go through it, however, it proved to become a boring old instructions to make a secret club." I want to put it in this manner: If you want to go outdoors and be among nature together with your friends, get this book. I appreciate the idea but I think the theory got lost in trying to make it as well FUN vs a means for a reader/writer to become EXPRESSIVE! I was wishing to utilize this during quiet occasions to keep my daughters curiosity vs watching TV however ever other minute she was requesting me where to find various items that she needed. I hardly ever discover her without it in her hands.
