There has never been a far more influential and beloved makeup artist than Kevyn Aucoin. Inspired by his challenging childhood in a homophobic Southern town, he chose to see beauty everywhere -- in every faces, races, and sexualities. His life was a dizzying mix of fame and glamour: Presidents and princesses understood his name, and his function appeared on countless catwalks, red carpets, and magazine addresses. But Kevyn's mission wasn't to make the beautiful people even more alluring. He was the make-up artist of choice for every major celeb, pop icon, and supermodel around, and along the way became as celebrated as his preferred personalities. It traces his beginnings in a Louisiana orphanage, where his unmarried sixteen-year-old mom positioned him for adoption, to the mysterious disease that tragically ended his life at the age of forty. Kevyn Aucoin: a beautiful lifestyle chronicles the magical trip of this makeup guru as noticed through the eye of his family, friends, lovers, and fashion-market insiders. For Kevyn, who struggled his entire life with emotions of inadequacy, internal beauty was as essential as the physical beauty that surrounded him. Also included may be the first-ever compilation of the make-up techniques that made Kevyn so legendary, accompanied by easy-to-follow step-by-step photos. Here, Gwyneth Paltrow, Julia Roberts, Janet Jackson, Barbra Streisand, Britney Spears, Tina Turner, Cindy Crawford, Naomi Campbell, Hilary Swank, Christy Turlington, Isabella Rossellini, and a large number of additional luminaries reveal in exceptional interviews what produced Kevyn so talented, funny, fiercely devoted, and eventually irreplaceable. He refined these signature techniques throughout his profession and relied upon them to carefully turn the most celebrated beauties into something amazing.
