Written by a female from South Africa, the publication offers a daily devotional reading based on her encounters with breast tumor. I like everything about Power Renewed ~ the short devotionals predicated on Shirley's encounters, the queries to the reader (food for thought), the prayers by the end of each devotion, the recommended reading list, the list of helpful scriptures, and the methods those people who are trying to greatly help and encourage those with cancer really can help ~ things to do and not to do.
