At very long last, a fresh take on color! Jesse and Joe, stylists to the stars and fashion consultants on The Oprah Winfrey Display reveal their secrets for obtaining personalized palettes for each specific woman's coloring. Using quizzes, questionnaires, a huge selection of photos, color swatches, before-and-after shots, and photos of celebrity design icons, they make it possible for any girl to determine her greatest colors, brighten her look, and leave a long lasting impression. Instead, Jesse and Joe offer 20 extremely personalized colortypes to pick from. No longer will ladies of color assume they look good only in bright colors. No more will redheads become relegated to earthtones.

Great, but with a few disadvantages Granted, this book has its disadvantages. Authors Jesse Garza and Joe Lupo breakdown the various 4 colortype categories you could match into and the color palette recommended for each one (plus some for everyone). I find this reserve great as helpful information to help you know very well what colors could be flattering or not. After that also, in the before and after photos, it shows the women wearing noticeable makeup with their good shades even though good colors usually do not put makeup you. The reserve is extensive and goes into depth about Clothes (with a breakdown based on your preferred Styletype- ex. It does offer you a great starting point and it also offers you great concepts on how to use color based on your personal design. Personally i think like I possess a new lease on youth!.. Amazing book that helped me to create a wardrobe predicated on what colors appear best on me. easy and simple to understand and does not take much time to do your colours. If you love lavishly illustrated books like this, I do recommend it, however, not for solid guidance in determining your very best colors. Creme de la Creme, there is no better! I have spent all my life in the completely wrong color. I would recommend to have a look at this publication. These powerhouses will finally assist you to find, certainly, the right color. I am a Prima Donna, and, alas, getting older, I am a awesome with olive pores and skin, who generally thought me to become an EARTH, but my eyes pop, skin becomes radiant, and lips plump when I finally found myself as a Celebrity coloring.qid=1417704099& Amazing book that helped myself to create a wardrobe based .), Jewelry, Hair, Makeup. I can't tell the subtle variations between a few of the shades in the book, and I'm still not sure what color type I am despite having the book. In addition to the design types were a bit confusing, and seemed like a plug for the authors' other reserve. This book is quite informative and has plenty of clear color picture pictures. The authors give specific pictures and guides to help you work out how to add color into your closet in practical ways. (in the event that you really wanna draw out your best appears). It clears up all of the ambiguity and misunderstandings that I found in this book. "Work It" includes the same color types and style designations as "Existence in Color," but I came across the material easier to process. I would never give up the best colors, but definitely desire to be conscious of what will end up being most flattering and make great use of those colors."http://www. Very fun reserve.com/Work-Vi sual-Therapys-Ultimate-Wardrobe/dp/0811865223/ref=asap_B001JP2R74_1_2?. There is no need any confusion to which color arranged you belong after you review this book. Is practical to me.sr=1-2 Better try this book I think the colour matching program described in this publication is preferable to the season-matching system of Suzanne Caygill.ie=UTF8& Do not even look any further. Also there's a"love color" quiz that asks you to choose a color you're most attracted to, then encourages you to still wear it in ways. Very helpful if you are unsure how to add more color into your wardrobe This book is great. Therefore over all, a fun book, probably for a coffee desk book or for something special to someone, but not as useful a publication as I had envisioned. You don't need to look like a weirdo/fashion model to pull off their ideas.amazon. Excellent Launch to Color Theory and Individualized Color Choices I recommend all books by Jesse Garza and Joe Lupo. If you would like to understand about personal style, personal color theory, and closet organization, read their books. Good ideas A whole lot of good details and photos. Different appears and colors from what I have been doing, will really help your tired closet.UPDATE: I like the authors' other book, "Work It," much better. I find this publication great as a . But the check to determine your type is confusing, and the even more you understand about your personal coloring, the more you're liable to come out more than one type.s=books& Color matters! (in the event that you really wanna draw out your best appears). And the palettes only show about 30 shades when there are a million and one variants on each color. It really is especially convincing to see examples of versions "before" and "after" in various color schemes (with no touchups) and to observe how some colors make them look washed out while some bring out their finest features. I personally found it very helpful. If you just buy one book from Jesse Garza, I'd choose "Work It. It's hard for anybody to match neatly into any one color category. The style types all seemed sort of unusual to me - I didn't feel just like I fit into any of their style groups. There are types of superstars/people in the different colortypes. That stated, I believe this is a great DIY manual for locating the colors that function best on you. Basic, Chic, Bohemian, Avante-Garde, Whimsical for each! Fun however, not as helpful as We thought This is an extremely fun book but I am still feeling a bit clueless. Photos of individuals in color the big as well as to this book The color photos in this book make it fun to browse through. You may actually be able to type yourself in the event that you already know your color time of year, because that older system relates pretty well to the main one in this publication. You may get suggestions from the photos of versions for Sunlight, Moon, Earth, and Superstar types wearing various styles, actually the photos of rooms designed with a number of color types in mind. There are some differences in the shades, for instance Moon colors are awesome but clear, not gentle, although Star colours are more powerful. But I discover this publication more esthetically satisfying than helpful. Sun types look like Springs, Moon types appear to be Summers, Earth types look like Autumns, and Celebrity types look like Winters.. I use it continually as helpful information when buying clothes.
