

The book cover features a warm, orange-toned background. On the left, there is a window with a dark frame, looking out onto a bright scene with a rainbow and a blue bird in flight. In the top left corner, there are green leaves and branches. At the bottom, a large, vibrant bouquet of red, yellow, and white flowers sits on a stone ledge.

Instances are changing! Richards, Former Governor of Texas "I had so much fun reading her publication. I really loved reading your poems. It is an excellent time to get older. Yes, our world is being transformed around us faster than ever before, and we have to evolve with it. It is written that there is "a period to weep and a time to laugh. We've exchanged home help for food processors, cooking for take-out, and leisurely eating for junk food. We used to read even more, listen to the radio, and create letters;" - Ms. Men have discovered to change diapers, and women can be construction workers." The secret is to understand which one to do when. Given a choice, let's proceed with the laughter.. They were touching and inspiring, and actually captured the spirit to be a grandmother!. Products, advertising, entertainment, and services are becoming more centered on this older generation. She captures the double criteria, the dual ambitions, the ambiguities and concerns, and most importantly, the hopes and aspirations that are so much a part of contemporary women's lives, and she captures it all with marvelous humor." - Ann W. We are about to have more "senior citizens" in this nation than ever before. now we watch TV, talk on calling, and fax. Mary Kay, Mary Kay Cosmetics "Natasha Josefowitz's soft and funny poetry sneaks its way into our hearts just how delicate humor does. "I've seen Natasha's viewers burst out in laughter, cheers, and applause at her verse." - Judy Mann, The Washington Post "Many thanks for your beautiful reserve and terms of encouragement. the laughter of recognition comes first and the tears of remembrance arrive later." - Warren Bennis, Joseph Debell Chair of Management, University of Southern California

It's not only Witty - It's wise This is a wonderful book - I am over 80 years old and want to give it as something special to my friends Marion Hirsch - such as a Birthday with a big quantity or a retirement I enjoy this book and also have gifted it to dear close friends, individually, at a significant passage in their lives, - such as a Birthday with a big quantity or a pension. She touches on the experiences we all talk about and reminds us of our very own humanity, fears, and joys in this thing called life. Good delivery. Five Stars An excellent book. Five Stars All aspects of the sale were satisfactory. Five Stars I liked the book. Insight and humor Dr. Josefowitz' insight and humor, sensitivity and candor, bring inspiration and lifestyle to the living, the aging and those that fear everything. It is a treasure and one really wants to talk about treasures with treasured friends.
