Recipient of the 2017 Most Promising New Textbook Award from the Textbook & Academic Authors Association (TAA) Chronologically organized, Lifespan Development: Lives in Context presents a unique perspective on the field by concentrating on the need for context?examining the way the places, sociocultural environments, and ways that we are raised influence who all we become and how exactly we grow and change. Kuther integrates cutting-advantage and classic research throughout the text to provide a unified story of developmental science and its applications to everyday life. Author Tara L. Robust pedagogy, student-friendly composing, and an inviting design enhance this thrilling and inclusive exploration of the ways that context informs our knowledge of the lifespan.

Great book but must be edited . . . Requires a good editor to examine and fix errors but the book itself includes a lot of information and is really good (hence the four superstars). Once again, I do just like the book and the publisher's free tools. That being said it is an excellent book.. The errors sometimes make the materials hard to understand some topics are just that complicated or complete. Great book but should be first edition due to many mistakes in grammar, sentence structure and extra publisher learning tools (quizzes, etc). Great and perfect condition Saved money and got exactly what I necessary for my Human Development Class! Five Stars in great shape Four Stars Easy. Five Stars What I wanted
