The Zen of Lao Tzu, Gertrude Stein, and Paulo Coelho, and the Zen of Ram Dass: Our plans never come out as delicious as reality. The Zen of Muriel Rukeyser: The trip is my home. the clarifying, the amazing, the paradoxical—which will change how you start to see the world around you. Adapted from the bestselling THE TINY Zen Companion, the Zen Page-A-Day Calendar features a huge selection of rates, sutras, koans, parables, and poems— Start each day with a whisper of truth, a wake-up call for the spirit, a relief from the kinetic rate of modern lifestyle and technology. Each gem of unexpected insight yields a moment of understanding, a glimpse of beauty. The Zen of Thich Nhat Hanh: Life is only available in today's moment.

A perennial favorite Haven't opened it however, but every one we've had for days gone by 20 some-odd years offers been wonderful. Zen Calender Always a great gift. simply love the dailiness reminders to ponder. order early I missed out this past year. Love this calendar I've yet to open it, but I've had this calendar for the last 2 years, and I assume it will be as effective as the others.
