God provides grandparents a sacred trust-an opportunity to imprint another era with the message of his faithfulness. How can you, as a grandparent, help? Their parents could be spiritually rebellious or just neglectful of the family's spiritual lifestyle, failing woefully to make prayer and church attendance a normal part of their routine. But also if your grandchildren's parents have established a solid Christian home, occupied schedules, careers, parenting, and all of the distractions of today's world conspire to distract or even destroy the family. Probably they're thousands of miles away. Probably your grandchildren are living with you. You can stand in the gap when you are a godly example for your grandchildren and by praying for them. It doesn't matter how far away your grandchildren are, praying for them can bridge the distance between you and keep them with an inheritance even more valuable than gold. From mobile phones to photo prayer journals, you'll find tools that function for you-and for your grandchildren. Writer Lillian Ann Penner provides specific examples of prayers to obtain started, such as alphabet prayers, prayers predicated on particular scriptures, and prayers for several holidays. You may even widen the circle, praying for other children in your daily life, for children who've parents in the military, and for the adults who impact your grandchildren. Actually grandparents who currently pray regularly because of their grandchildren will quickly realize creative suggestions for making the practice even more meaningful.
