Mrs. Lauderdale noises the alarm, and urges Boomers to create goals, and to take note the pitfalls. The new Blog is vital to keep us abreast of changes and links to various other resources. This Book is a very important tool, and essential Read! End up being blessed and continue steadily to write. In as much as my generation of seniors reaching our Senior Years, I find it essential we strengthen ourselves with understanding and protection of the predators towards older people. We need to defend our Seniors and like them as they loved us. Lauderdale for being an unyielding advocate and providing this valuable tool. Baby Boomers and Seniors free of charge Yourself from harm... I just started reading this book in fact it is a very sobering however important depiction of what can occur if one will not prepare ahead to safeguard their resources and ensure they have the needed assets for the balance of there days. This is an important work. Lauderdale for providing a voice to this often times, silent population. Lauderdale for getting the insight to write this unforgettable publication. For years this problem has been building up in families but, no one wanted to take it upfront and personal. To write a book of this magnitude, one would experienced to lived a part of it. Her book, SENIORS and Seniors is a must have for Hospitals, Senior Citizen homes, Rest homes and your home. Our children disappear completely and live their lives, only to return home to eliminate ours. Great Details for the elderly! Well, our seniors will be the backbone of the country. Thank you, Mrs. As people age group they need to prepare for what's, in place, their short future. When you can't trust your loved ones, who is able to you trust? Just understand that family will screw you quicker when compared to a stranger. Our Seniors for a long time have been put on the back burner because, now, they're older and who cares? Great read! Lauderdale for being strong enough to tell it like it is.! This book supports this new fresh phase of life which has new wellness, legal, and business problems. Her courage to expose family members shame and deception indicates the depth of her concern for the well-being of seniors. With a senior's child being the most likely perpetrator of domestic abuse 47% of that time period, she warns us to avoid our very own flesh and blood, and also strangers. I found the publication to have extremely valuable information for older people in addition to the " boomers" who look after them. So, furthermore to asking you to improve your discernment antennae, she tells you how to locate the support you need whenever your beloved bosom infants try to suck you dry. Gloria Shell Mitchell, Baby Boomer For loving caregivers, older people population and those who are family members I just started reading your publication and let me first say, "I really like the opening". Being a previous caregiver in both institutional and personal home configurations, I am experiencing what this book has to offer.
